They have been dustriously engaged at it for some time; and should have developed before now some unexected and startling thing. The newspapers ould have been greatly indebted to them for ems that everybody would read. The newsoys would have been greatly aided in their aily business, with a few staring capitals anouncing the discovery of a fresh mine of coraption and rascality. It must be confessed, owever, that the diggings have been very unrofitable. A few old stories, grown threadpare, are repeated with scarcely a variation. Bombardment of Vera Cruz.

VERA CRUE, March 23, 1860.

ESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY-DESOLATION OF THE The past month has been remarkable for its CITY-THE KILLED AND WOUNDED-CAPTURE OF TWO MORE PRIZES.

Since my last to you, of the 21st inst, I have been taking a stroll over this desolate looking city to see the destruction caused by the inhuman and barbarous bombardment of Miramon. It is truly lamentable to see the destruction of property. By it hundreds of poor persons are deprived of their homes. Instead of throwing his shells along the lines of the forts, among the troops, he threw them right into the heart of the city, and but for the temporary moving of families, there would have been a terrible destruction of life. As it was, fortunately, the losses were small. They fell, however, mostly upon the defanseless women and children and a few men.

It appears that the losses among the troops,

It appears that the losses among the troops, in kitled, were seven, and thirty wounded, while among the claims there were ten whiled, and about thirty wounded. The latter were mostly women and children.

On the other side, it is computed that Miramon lost over a hundred in killed. It is said that some pipely dead bodies have the said. that some ninety dead bodies have already been found. He had also some three hundred wounded. Thank God he got most terribly worsted for his barbarity.
Yesterday Miramon answered the letter of protest sent to him by Capt. Aldham, of the Valorous, in which he says he ceased firing or bombarding the place for humanity's sake. This we know to be a base falsehood, as he quit because he had no more powder, and because his coarcy from Mexico with ammunition had been taken. and Southwest, during the month of March, This inhuman bombardment is so much like that in the civil war and combardment of Na-ples by its King, for which he received and

A couple of years ago, says the Fermanagh Mail, we chronicled the appointment of a young Enniskillener, the son of highly respectable and much esteemed parents, to an espectation and much esteemed parents, to an ensiguely in one of her Majesty's regiments. Falling into "fast" life before a year had elapsed, he was then sent to a foreign country, where it was thought that a professional acquaintance of his father would be able to procure him employment; his stay broad was very brief. Having returned to England, his first act was to enlist as a gunner at the Royal Artillery. In vain were applications made at the Horse Gnards to purchase his discharge. At the instance of a mother's unceasing solicitude for the welfare of her orodigal son, a few weeke ago he obtained a urlough, and proceeded to visit a brother hold-ug a commission in a militia regiment; when, probably stang by remorse apon contrasting as own degraded position with the respecta-ble one in which his younger brother moved, he troke from the latter on Thursday last, when his leave was nearly expired, and jump pool. His remains cannot be recovered.

Stanley commander, and the Spanjah watchmeu of the city. It appears that part of the crew of the Wyandot had permission to go on shore, and, of course, took advantage of the indulgence to imbibe freely of those fluids most congenial to old salts. Some feeling had been accused among the crew on accused of been excited among the crew on account of their ship having been fired into by the Sagna Fort, at or near the entrance of the bay, and of course they desired to give expression to their sentiments, in the way most effective, according to their ideas of logic. A 'muss' was the consequence. Many of the sailors of the trading vessels in port being on shore, took hauds with the huttons, going in for a regular spree. The Spanish sailors were joined by a few soldiers in the street, but they were in a fair way of being whipped by ronsed Yankeedom, when troops were ordered out to quell the riot. The few officers on shore from the Wyandot were unable to control the sailors, and there was no alternative but to let them een excited among the crew on acco was not implicated in the row, but striving to calm the tury of the sailors, or to withdraw them from the ecene, has died of the wounds received in the fight between the soldiers of the Convention with a clear majority of all the votes in his tavor.

The Charleston Convention. If Stephen A. Douglas is not the choice of the Charlesien Coavention, a minority candidate will be the nominee of the party, because it is now nearly certain that Douglas will enter the Convention with a clear majority of all the votes in history.

When, in 1856, Mr. Buohanan received a majority of the votes of the Cincinnati Convention, Judge Douglas instantly telegraphed his friends to withdraw his name, and thus give his rival the requisite two-thirds vote. We shall see how generously Mr. Buchanan will requite this act of magnanimity.

If the friends of Douglas at Charleston stand firm, he will be nominated. The solitary chastacle to his success is the apprehension shat the South will not support. A more unfounded apprehension nearer existed. We have not a shadow of doubt that every Southern State, smalow of doubt that every Southern State, from Delaware to Tsxas, will cast its vote for him as the Democratic nemines. It would be from Delaware to Texas, will east its vote for him as the Democratio nemines. It would be "gall and wormwood" to some politicians, but they are as dust in the balance against the popular will. They have made their bed of rash committal; it them lie in it.

While the nomination of Donglas is the safest card to play against the Black Republicans, it would be the healthiest blow that could be struck for the integrity and purification of the Democration party. It would cannot the party to slough off soms of the old sores which cling to its body like barancles to the bottom of the ship of oak, and whose only office is to impede its progress, and fetter its usefulness. This is the purely sectional part of Southern Democracy, who belong to it only to sectionalize it, and to make it the instrument of compassing their shief political end: a dissolution of the Union.

The Douglas men in Charleston will find this class of Southera politicians opposing Douglas "to the bitter end," and naturally, for his nomination would be death in the sup to them In a variety of ways. First, it would postpone disunted and excuse for it, at least four years, and perhaps forever, by the defeat of the Black Republicans. Second, It would compel them to separate from the Democratic years, and perhaps forever, by the defeat of the Black Republicans. Second, it would compet them to separate from the Democratic party and raise their own proper sectional party standard; and third, it would bring home the direct issue to the people of the South, whether they are ready to revolutionize the government under which they live, in preference to allowing their own countrymen in the Territories the privilege of actions are in the Territories the privilege of self-gevern-ment, which the British Crown permits to British subjects in Canada and Australia.

The era seems propitious for sectional parties.

The North has its sectional party well defined.

It is asfer and better so than while sectional bigotry worked in the vitals of the eld Whigh ile true colors, and is now "Black Republi can." Precisely the same process is going on in the South. A sectional party is striving to master and control the Democracy of the South. Shall it succeed? At present it cannot. To succeed it must not only defeat Douglas at Charleston, but it must force upon the Convention a sectional slave-code platform. the Convention a sectional slave-code platform and entirely upset the tramework of substantial and national principles sreeted in 1856. The first, to wit: the defeat of Douglas is possible, but the last is not possible, unless we possible, ont the last is not possible, unless we can be lieve that a convention of the Democracy of thirty-three States will deliberately commit suicide for the purpose of giving political immortality to a handful of Southern politicians, who have exhibited the highest talens for mischief and disturbance of the peace, and not the first sign of expacity for wise, sool, and aspecious statemenship.

gacious statesmanship. Nothing is more sure, then, than that the pliticians of the "Alabama platform" school re destined to be defsated at Charleston. If Donglas is not nominated, a Douglas man will be, on a Douglas platform. Our belief is, that Douglas will be the man, and the platform of 1856 the platform.—Mobile Register.

The recent storm did great damage to rail roads, but more particularly to those located in Ohio. On the Columbus and Xenia road a break occurred, but it has been repaired. The Central Ohio line was worse damaged, but was probably mended yesterday. On the Bellefontaiue line a heavy embankment was washed away, near Quincy; and other damages were experienced. The damages or the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago, and Jeffersonville roads have been repaired.

The Freight Convention at Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, was postponed on account of the detention of several representatives by the storm. The Cincinnati Gazette says the Receiver of the Marietta road refuses to abolish rect and finished as a singer, beautiful and extra drayage, on the ground that it is not graceful as a woman, why should she fail to proper to bind the Marietta road to any policy in the present state of its affairs. DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN MICHIGAN .- A fire in the woods about Ottawa, Mich., on Thursday last, spread nearly over an entire township, the wind driving the flames as rapidly as a rsce horse, destroying a number of dwellings, barns and farm property on the south side of the river. When the ocean of flame reached the river. When the ocean of flame resumed the bank of the stream, which, with the broad bayon, has a sheet of water over a quarter of a mile in width, the fierce gale carried a vol-ume across like a flash, and, like a race horse, it approached the village of Ottawa, causing no little commotion, burning the house of Mr. Feir, the barn of Mr. John Cassell, a shingle shanty and a large quantity of shingles, many fences and a large amount of other property. A truck loaded with hay, and drawn by oxen, caught fire at a distance of a mile from th voods, and the oxen were detached and save woods, and the oxen were detached and saved with some difficulty, the truck and load being consumed. As night approached the wind fell and the flames died out, after doing serious harm to a considerable section of country, and exciting the fears of the people to a great de-

THE FACE, ROUGHNESS OF THE SKIN. &c.

The IRON being absorbed by the blood, and thus circulating through the whole-system, no part of the bedy can escape their truly wonderful infinence. The experience of thousands daily proves that no oreparation of iron can for a moment be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pair and otherwise stelly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable take. In all cases of female debility (fluor albuschloresis, ac.) its effects are delightfully renovating No remedy has ever been discovered, in the whole interry of medicine, which serves such prompt, happy and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with a unusual disposition for active and chearful agenciae, immediately follow its use. As a grand so substitute.
